INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE

EarthCare White Oil is an all season spray that is safe to use on roses, flowers, ornamentals, grapes, fruit and citrus trees, and potted plants. It works by blocking the breathing pores of insects and pests causing suffocation.

Insects eating away at the garden and edible produce can be a real problem for gardeners so a reliable, low-toxic control is beneficial for pets, family and friends.

The active ingredients in EarthCare White Oil are safe for the environment, humans and wildlife. It has a one-day withholding period.

EarthCare White Oil is available as a 1 litre trigger spray or 500mL concentrate using a spray applicator.

APPLICATION DIRECTIONS

To be effective, EarthCare White Oil must be sprayed to both sides of the foliage until run-off.

Trigger Spray

EarthCare White Oil insect spray is ready to use as no mixing is required. Shake well before use. Keep the spray agitated (i.e. shake at regular intervals). Thoroughly wet both sides of the foliage until run-off. Repeat spraying may be required depending on the plant and pest. DO NOT spray when beneficial insects are around.

Concentrate

Shake the bottle before use and remove the child-resistant cap. Pour the required amount of EarthCare White Oil concentrate into a measuring cylinder and mix with the correct amount of water. Replace the child-resistant cap. DO NOT mix more than is required. Shake the spray applicator before use.
