organic* WORM FERTILISER

BIOLOGICAL WORMCAST PELLETS

Seasol Organic* Worm Fertiliser is an exciting innovation that's been added to the Seasol soil care range. Worms act as nature's magicians, transforming organic* garden waste diverted from landfill into garden gold to create Seasol Organic* Worm Fertiliser.

Worms, through their castings (excrement), generate a range (thousands of species) of different biological microorganisms that have been refined by Mother Nature over millions of years. The biological microorganisms can thrive in various soil types and perform a broad range of functions.

Seasol has cultivated and harvested these worm castings added Seasol and formed them into an easy-to-handle pellet form.

During production, the organic* worm fertiliser pellets undergo a slow gradual drying process to preserve the biological microorganisms ensuring that it remains alive and viable. It enters a dormant state (similar to hibernation) and can be activated by adding moisture. Once awakened, they feed on a special nutrient blend incorporated into the pellet, multiplying and enriching the soil.

The biological microorganisms in combination with the NPK and trace elements provides exactly what your garden needs to enhance plant growth, promote flowering and fruiting, and root development.

Seasol Organic* Worm Fertiliser is a gentle, slow-release nutrient source to support healthy plant and root growth.

It helps aerate the soil, improve soil structure and water retention, while increasing nutrients for a bigger yield of produce with improved quality (think tastier produce and more of it).

Seasol Organic* Worm Fertiliser is certified as an organic garden input and contains various nutrients and trace elements. This product is allowable for use on farms or gardens certified to the Australian Certified Organic Standard.*
